

CTC Source Protection Committee Member - Biography

Chris Darling

CLOSPA

Chris Darling is a Registered Professional Planner with over 25 years of land use planning experience and is currently the Chief Administrative Officer for the Central Lake Ontario Conservation Authority (CLOCA). Prior to becoming the CAO, Chris was the Director of Development Review and Regulations with CLOCA from 2010 to 2015. Prior to joining CLOCA, Chris held positions as a Principal Planner with the Region of Durham and the Director of Development Services for the City of Kawartha Lakes.

Chris holds an Honours Bachelor of Environmental Studies in the School of Urban and Regional Planning from the University of Waterloo.

Chris is a Board Member on The Ontario Aggregate Resources Corporation and has sat on a number of steering committees and boards, including the Oak Ridges Moraine Land Trust, and Ontario Professional Planners Policy and Membership Committee.